

NIGHT LIFE SKIT

OWL: (yawning & stretching his wings)

Whooo hooo hooo hoooo.

There's a full moon out tonight. Should be a lot of little creatures scurrying about. I'm getting hungry. Think I'll go out for a fly over. I hope there is something good to eat out there tonight.

RACCOON: (bustling about...chattering)

Cherree cherree cherree

Come on, children. Let's go to the pond to find something to eat. Don't forget to wash your hands.

SKUNK: (slowly swaying from side to side)

My tummy is growling for some grubs. I'd better get busy.

COYOTE: (stretching & yawning)

Yip Yip Yip owrrrrrr

It's all about food, isn't it?

Good thing we have sharp senses to find food in the dark.

OWL: (flapping his wings)

My feathers are built for silence. I can swoop without being heard.

And my ears are offset so I can zone in on my food.

And my eyes are huge, and they have more rods to let in more light.

COYOTE: (wagging his tail)

We all have super sniffers, too. On the cool night breeze, I can smell all of you, not just skunk.

SKUNK: swaying slowly side to side)

If everything is really quiet, I can hear grubs under the ground.

RACCOON: (bustling & chattering)

cherree cherree cherree Well, we better get out and get busy
